Cambridge FCE Exam Preparation: More Course Information:

The FCE course fully prepares students for all the assessments by familiarising students with the format and content of the five papers and helping them to approach the exam with confidence. Students learn to fluently talk about a variety of topics, write in both formal and informal styles and read and understand texts from a variety of sources.

Exam Information

So what exactly does the exam consist of? There are 4 parts; Reading and Use of English, Writing, Speaking and Listening. Here's a quick guide to each part:

Use of English & Reading

1 hour 30 minutes in length and is in 8 parts;

Successful candidates will show that they are able to deal with different types of text with confidence and ease as well as use grammar and vocabulary correctly.

Writing

The Writing paper is 1 hour 30 minutes in length and is in 2 parts;

On this paper, candidates are expected to produce two separate writing tasks. The second task is much longer than the first and contains more points.

Listening

The Listening paper is 40 minutes long and has 4 sections;

The listening tests your ability to follow and understand normal social conversation, radio broadcasts, interviews and academic presentations.

Speaking

The Speaking interview is 15 minutes long and students are tested in pairs.

The 4 parts to the interview test a candidate's skills in effective speaking skills in everyday situations.
